It is to be hoped the scheme to build a fine two story brick store between the Rowan corner and Dr. Isbels store will not fall through. This is one of the most desirable sites on the public square and a good building can be put up there cheaper than at any other place. The investment will pay most certainly.

The present session of the State Normal school at Jacksonville is the most prosperous in the history of the institution. About one hundred and forty pupils are in attendance. The faculty is a very strong one. Every member of it seems to be the right person in the right place, and the state board of directors are much pleased at the management of it. President Gibson is a born disciplinarian, and since he assumed charge, the discipline of the school has been vastly improved. Nothing like the perfect discipline of this school now, we venture to say, can be found in any school in the state. The addition of a self-sustaining music department is beneficial to the school in many ways. No such accomplished teacher of music as Miss Dupliss has ever taught in any institution in this part of Alabama. A new piano has been purchased and the rate for music has been fixed at the very low price of $3.50 per month. A good sum will be also expended upon apparatus, the appropriation having already been made, and the advantages will be great to those pupils pursuing scientific studies. Let it be remembered that pupils from any part of the state are admitted to the normal department of the school free. The normal pupils have the advantage of the entire faculty, where their studies touch any department, be it in the normal or common school. The charges for board here in the best families are very low to students, and altogether there is no point in the state where one seeking a thorough education can have so many advantages for so little money. Add to these the perfect health of the town and the elevated tone of its society and the attraction becomes greater.

Bondurant, on Depot street, keeps Flour, Sugar, Coffee, Meat, Lard, Hams, Cheese, Grits and a full line of Can Goods, and defies competition in prices. Give him a call.

The colored people of the state have begun a commendable movement to build an orphan, aged and infirm asylum in this state. There was a meeting of representative colored men of the state at Montgomery the 29th, among them being J. E. Bush of this county. All preliminary steps have been taken to push the enterprise to a successful issue. The object is one that should enlist the aid and sympathies of both white and black people of the state.

Go to Bondurant's for low prices in staple and fancy groceries.

The Public Roads. L. W. GRANT—There is nothing more interesting to come before the next legislature than the road law. We think the old one good enough with some amendments. Here is a proposition: have the county laid off into four districts, appoint an engineer in each one to meet with the overseer one at a time, and go with him over his road and show and tell him what the road needs to comply with the law. Let it be the duty of the engineer to visit his roads three times a year, and any overseer who fails to work his road according to the requirements of the law, make it the duty of the engineer to report him to the court. All hands work ten days if necessary to make the roads good. Let the court appoint engineers that will do their duty and pay them for the time they are on duty. I want some of you to beat this. We want good roads.

The Tennessee campaign is without an equal in the history of American politics. Bob Taylor, the Democratic nominee, in introducing his brother Alf the other day, made use of a sentence that will never die, at the same time let his bud down in as nice a manner as possible. In his speech, Bob, referring to the peculiar situation, said: "The tender bond of brotherhood is neither severed or abridged by our differences of opinion in politics, nor can the discussion of political questions disturb the delicate relations. The red rose and the white rose bloom together and shed their odors upon the same atmosphere, and gently struggle for the supremacy, glorifying the twilight hours. My brother represents to-day the red rose and I represent the white. Our political histories vary in this—that in my boyhood I was transplanted by tender and loving hands into the sweet gardens of pure democracy; while he, like the 'last rose of summer,' in the desert of republicanism was left blooming alone."

The African Race.

We recently met with a well known colored porter of a Pullman car, who runs from Atlanta to New York. His name is Augustus L. Grant, and he lives at No. 250 Hayne Street, Atlanta, Ga. He said, "I would like to publish for the benefit of consumptives and for the comfort of their friends, how I have been rescued from a consumptive's grave. I know that many people do not have consumption, but I know from experience that it is a great mistake. Seven years ago I became a subject of this terrible disease, and was so pronounced by my physicians. My lungs became badly affected. My cough was awful, at times almost shaking me to pieces. My general health broke down and so declined that I became helpless and reduced in flesh almost to a shadow. Terrible night sweats; no appetite or digestion; more and more pain in my lungs. I suffered more and more; my cough became exceedingly exhaustive, discharging great quantities of pus and consumptive matter. I had in the meanwhile the best treatment; some of the best physicians prescribed for me, and became interested in my case. But after two or three years' treatment finding that I continued to grow worse, they one by one abandoned the case until at last they all agreed that it was only a question of time with me, and the time was thought to be very short. In this condition, with one foot as it were in the grave, and making my preparations to go through the dark water of death, one of my physicians mentioned to me a remedy which might be tried as a last resort. His reasoning was that consumption being nothing more than ulcers on the lungs, why is it that a remedy which will cure an ulcer on the body will not cure ulcers on the lungs? At his suggestion I procured a bottle of Swift's Specific and began to take it. I felt so much benefited from the first bottle that I persevered in the use of it, and my improvement was almost as rapid as it was wonderful. My appetite came back to me, digestion was good, my strength was rapidly regained, my lungs healed over nicely, my cough left me gradually, and I went to work with a new lease on life. For the last four or five months I have not lost a day's wages nor felt a symptom of that terrible disease that had brought me so near the brink of the grave. My physician three months ago pronounced me sound and well—not a trace of lung trouble. He today, July 16th, made another examination, and tells me that my lungs are as sound as anybody's. I feel perfectly well, and I know I am entirely cured, and that I owe my life to S. S., which was prescribed by the physician. My advice to every man, woman and child who has weak lungs is to take S. S. It cured me sound and well after all the doctors and all other medicines had failed, and I want every sufferer to know it."

WHAT THE PRESS CAN DO.

No one will gainsay that any one branch of a commonwealth does more than the press for its advancement to receive so small a reward. Now there is one thing the Advance would like the press of Alabama to do; it is a benevolent act and one that will bring them the sweet solace to their conscience that they have done something for the needy. It is that each paper in the state give fifty cents—one half dollar—towards getting up a collection of prizes for proficiency in the deaf, dumb and blind school at this place.

Little children whose parents are in mental circum-luces come here every year with no inducement shown out to them—no goal pictured in their minds to work for in the future years—no kind friends to say a word now and then, but the dull, lonesome life of hearing all they can by feeling over the slate, the raised black board, books, maps, charts, etc. They cannot even enjoy the outdoor sports incidental to school life, they cannot see the beautiful place they live in, cannot enjoy any of the beauties of nature.

The mute children are much better off, but, alas how far short they fall of enjoying the pleasures that the average boy enjoys! Only those who have witnessed these poor children trying to learn even the lessons preparatory to a most common education can imagine the double work they have to do.

The Advance only asks fifty cents to be given by the larger papers and twenty five cents from the smaller ones. It is such a benevolent act that surely none can hesitate to do it. The state papers please copy and send the donation. We may say here that it was not at the suggestion of any one connected with the institution that this appeal was made, but the Advance asked Dr. Johnson about it and he said that he was not opposed to the plan, rather thought it a good one, but some one might say it was gotten up by friends of the school was the reason he would rather oppose it.—Talladega Advance.

STEVE RENFROE.

The Noted Desperado and Jail Breaker of Sumter County.

Montgomery Dispatch.

Steve Renfro was born about 1839 in Sumter county, and was the son of wealthy parents. At the beginning of the war he was just entering manhood, and in common with all the men of the south, he took up arms in defense of his cause.

After his return from the war he settled down in Sumter county as a farmer, and was so until the dark days of radical rule, when deputy marshals rode around the state arresting citizens and parading them through the streets of Alabama cities handcuffed and loaded with chains for the purpose of terrifying the people.

Renfro was arrested, and with some others was brought from Livingston to this city en route to Mobile.

His firmness and fearlessness while under arrest caused him to be idolized by the people of his county, and in 1880 they elected him as their sheriff.

Shortly after his election to this position he began a system of robbing the county and to destroy evidence he set fire to the clerk's office.

He was indicted and lodged in the Livingston jail but managed to escape. He was captured and lodged in the Tuscaloosa jail, from which he escaped by burning a hole through the floor.

After those escapes he was recaptured, tried and sentenced to Pratt Mines, but he boasted that he would not remain there.

After about five weeks confinement he managed to escape, and for some time was hid out in western Alabama and eastern Mississippi.

He preyed on the people about his old home, stealing horses and valuables of every description.

Early in July he was located near Enterprise, Miss., and captured by two young men from whom he had stolen a mule. They notified the Pratt mines authorities, and Mr. Justus Collins went to Mississippi after him.

On Collins' return, Renfro was taken from him at Livingston by the Sumter county sheriff on a warrant charging him with horse stealing. He was lodged in jail at Livingston, and the evening of July 13th was taken out and hung by a mob.

The scene of the hanging is thus described in a special to the Dispatch of July 16th:

"When asked if he wanted to pray, he said he did not know a prayer, but wished some one would pray for him."

"Then came a scene of picturesque solemnity. In a beautiful field, on the banks of a peaceful river, in the soft light of a brilliant moon, a disguised figure

JOHN HOWARD PAYNE'S LETTERS.

Exact Copy of One Written in 1835 by the Author of "Home, Sweet Home."

Montgomery Dispatch.

John Howard Payne, the author of "Home, Sweet Home," was a great friend of Major F. S. Pelton, who fought so gallantly in the Mexican war. The major died and left among his many letters from distinguished men one from John Howard Payne. The documents are in possession of the major's grand-daughter, Mrs. Sallie Evans, wife of the humorist, Leo C. Evans. The hand-writing of Payne is small, well rounded and beautiful. The letter is given in full as it is punctuated and spelled.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., July 25, 1835.—My dear Belton: I can as well explain why your valued note of May 28 has so long remained unanswered, as I apologize for the omission. Both are to me equally impossible. I have sinned past forgiveness unless you have more mercy than justice. The fact is, the book and letter did not reach me just as I was on the eve of quitting New Orleans. Then all was hurry and hurry. Every day that I remained in Mobile, I intended to visit your "Tartar Dome" on the day following, and to thank you for your elegant contribution to my album and still more for your endearing recollections of "Auld lang syne." Circumstances delayed me longer than I expected and circumstances hurried me off, with a party, sooner than I expected—after that, I thought I must not write until I could write a long letter—and I have put the long letter off so long that I am compelled now to throw myself upon your generosity by a frank confession in a short one.

I have been very desirous here, of seeing an Indian festival, and this has kept me some days. But so vague and contradictory is all the information I get upon the subject, that I must depart to-morrow, take my chance in the nation, and if nothing is going on there, go on myself, so as to get to Athens for the commencement, and thence to Charleston, S. C. Did you not say you might aid my views there? If you can give me any letters, either there or on my route, I shall feel much indebted to you—and the more the better.

The establishment of my work is of great interest and importance to me—so is the knowledge which an extensive introduction may give me of our country.

Do not forget such notes and sketches as from all you have heard me explain, you must be aware it will be awful. The Indian sketches and descriptions you mentioned, the Havana sketches with such comments as may explain them—indeed, anything and everything of the nature which has engaged your lei are will be to me most acceptable material. Could you not put your New York Bay Panorama into form? I mean into such form as would give you little trouble and enable me readily to get it finished up to the time present?

Let me not alarm you with my catalogue of my wishes. In return, wherever I may be, always command me for whatever I can do, or rather tell me what you wish from any point where I may chance to be, and if it can be done by me, it shall.

I am very mad, no opportunity of seeing Mrs. Belton, but that must not exclude me from the pleasure of requesting my compliments to my friend's wife, even though to me an "invisible lady."

Puff-bag or letters sent to the care of my brother, Matthew T. Payne, Esq., councillor, New York, will always reach me. Letters to Charleston, S. C., will hit me within three weeks or a month.

Adieu, mon ami, and believe me faithfully yours,

JOHN HOWARD PAYNE, Maj. F. S. Belton, Fort Morgan, Mobile, Ala.

The Republican.

OCTOBER 16 1886.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE

FROM THE
Seventh Congressional District of Alabama, in the Fifth Congress.
WILLIAM H. FORNEY, of Calhoun County.

THE 'AGE' AND ITS ILLUSTRATION.

To avoid the crushing effect of the political axiom that it is not right to tax the many for the benefit of the few, the Birmingham Age descends to puerility when it instances the salaries paid to public officers as a case where the many are taxed for the benefit of the few, thus trying to put protected manufacturers on the same plane with officers of government.

It is indispensable that somebody look after the public interests, and the men selected for this work by the people give their time and talents to the work. They are hired and paid for their services just as business men hire managers and book keepers and clerks. Public officers in most cases earn more than earn the wages they are paid, for they usually get scant wages.

What do the men having their money in protected industries do for the people in return for the enormous bounties given them by the people in the shape of a protective tariff? They grow rich and combine to put up the prices of their products on the people. They employ their immense aggregated capital to control legislation in their interest, to the detriment of the public good. They form gigantic monopolies and lock up the resources of the country and check its development whenever it suits them.

While the people elect and hire their President, Governors, Judges, Lawmakers and other public servants to protect and guard their interests, these fostered monopolies are forever seeking to corrupt the fountains of power and make the government entirely subservient to their interests; and to-day one of the most serious problems which this country has to confront is how the people—the Government may cope with this gigantic power their favor and their bounty has created.

Never satisfied, these favored few are forever crying for more. They make their demands upon the most specious pleas. They claim in one instance that protection favors the development of the country, while at the same time they are using the wealth a generous people have given to monopolize all the resources of the country in coal, in timber, in iron ore, in public lands and shut out competition and consequent development of the country. They shout lustily that they are for the measures that enrich them because the same are a protection to American labor; when they know that nine-tenths of the laboring men of the country are employed in farming and other industries not protected by the tariff, and in face of the fact that the richer they grow the poorer and more discontented the labor they themselves employ becomes. What means the Knights of Labor and kindred labor organizations but a movement for protection against the very manufacturers who hypocritically profess so much concern for them and are forever demanding legislation for the "protection of American labor."

That protection does not cheapen goods is proven by the fact that protectionists themselves claim that abolition of the tariff would flood this country with goods at prices with which home manufacturers could not compete. That it does not cheapen goods is proven by the removal of tax on quinine. That article of prime necessity, under a protective tariff, was very costly. After the import tax was removed from it, manufacturers run the price up and cried out "behold the removal of the tax does not cheapen the article to American consumers." Had Congress been deluded by this and restored the duty, the advance in quinine would have been a standing argument with the tariff robbers in favor of their policy; but Congress was firm, and when foreign quinine makers began to send in their products the price went down and down until to-day quinine is not worth one-third of what it was when a tariff tax was upon it, and the millions who are forced to use the drug have been benefitted to that extent. By the way, it is interesting to note that the few firms in the United States, which use quinine and grew rich while the duty was upon it, have not closed down since the removal of that duty. They are simply not making as much money off the people as formerly, and have to content themselves with a smaller profit. Would it have hurt the people at large if they had never grown rich at all?

The reduction of the import tax on cotton ties was a direct benefit to the people at large, the farmers, who are by far the most numerous of our working population. Cotton ties are worth $1.25 less per bundle than when the high tax was upon them. But, says the protectionist, "now we have you. The reduction of the duty on cotton ties closed up the cotton tie manufacturing in this State in which Gov. Cobb was interested and threw several working people out of employment." This cotton tie factory of Gov. Cobb is a favorite "instance" with the protectionists. It is their bugaboo to frighten men away from the plain and honest principle that it is not right to tax the many for the benefit of the few. The reduction of the tax may or may not have closed Gov. Cobb's factory. It might have been that he did not make as good a tie as some others on the market, or that the business management of the concern was bad. But suppose it did? We answer in the language of an intelligent gentleman and dealer of this place to whom the same "instance" was given. "That is all right," said he. "I am not greatly interested in seeing Gov. Cobb rich, however much I may esteem him as a man. I know that I now buy cotton ties one dollar and a quarter a bundle cheaper than I did when the high tax was on them and that is the point in which I am interested. I know that the hard working farmers of this country, my neighbors and friends, now get cotton ties cheaper than before, and their interest is as much if not more to me than that of Gov. Cobb. If Gov. Cobb can't make a living in making cotton ties without taxing the farmers of the country $1.25 a bundle to help do it, let him go into some other business."

All right thinking men are glad to see the material development of the country. They know that it takes much money to run the government and one of the ways easiest to raise revenue, and less felt than any other by the people, is by an import tax. They are willing that this tax shall protect our industries as far as it may go, that it of necessity will do so; but they will never assent to the proposition that it is right to tax any man or industry for the benefit solely of any other man or industry.

The theory of protection for the sake of protection is that of the highway robber. It is essentially dishonest and is oppressive in that it claims the right of Government, which is made by all for all, to tax one class of its citizens for the benefit of another class. It is opposed to the spirit of our free government. It is violative of the Constitution. It can be defended upon no principle of honor or right.

LETTER FROM MR. HARDY.

ANNISTON, ALA., Oct. 12, '86.

ED. REPUBLICAN—Dear Sir:—I notice in the last issue of your paper you say I have failed to meet Gen. Forney in joint discussion. My first appointment I could not meet, and so informed Mr. Forney, but at same time (in cars at Calera) I informed him I would fill my regular appointment at Anniston, which I did, and Mr. Forney failed to come. Nothing would please me better than to canvass this District jointly with Mr. Forney. Please be so kind as to give this explanation room in your next issue. Respectfully, J. D. HARDY.

The facts stated by Mr. Hardy are not different from those stated by the REPUBLICAN, except as to Anniston. Gen. Forney did go to Anniston the day of Mr. Hardy's appointment to meet him, but Mr. Hardy failed to come, and I nobody at Anniston could give a reason for his failure to appear. Gen. Forney returned to Jacksonville, and upon being asked if he had met his opponent, said he had not; that he supposed Mr. Hardy had been kept away by business engagements. On this was predicated the publication that Mr. Hardy did not put in an appearance at Anniston. It now appears that Mr. Hardy did run up to Anniston the evening of the day he was to have been there and that he made a speech to a small audience at night. If nothing would please Mr. Hardy better than to meet Gen. Forney, we suggest that he can compass his desire by calling in his appointments and attending those of Gen. Forney. He will be given a division of time, no doubt,

E. T. Va. & Ga. and Birmingham.

The Montgomery correspondent of the Birmingham Age says:

"From a pretty reliable source your correspondent learns that the E. T. Va. & Ga. system will reach Birmingham in different directions. One line connecting the Birmingham & Mobile with the Mobile & Western either via Uniontown, Marion Junction or Brierfield, through the Cahaba coal fields to Birmingham. The latter is the most probable. The other line will reach Birmingham over the Eastern & Western, completing that road from Broken Arrow to Birmingham. The terminal facilities at Birmingham, it is reported are already secured."

A dispatch from Rome, Ga., says that the East & West people profess to know nothing about the transfer of that road to the E. T. Va. & Ga., but that it is generally believed there that the E. & W. has passed into the possession of the E. T. Va. & Ga.

The extension of the E. & W. as a broad gauge to Birmingham will be a great thing for Jacksonville. It will give us a coveted connection with the Magic City and bring the long sought connection with Gadsden also in plain sight. With these additional railroad advantages Jacksonville will at once enter upon a career of prosperity that will make her the foremost manufacturing and trading town of this section of the State.

The "Independent Party" of the Fifth Congressional District of this State has nominated a candidate to oppose Judge Cobb, the Democratic nominee. The Independent party has also put forth a platform, which attacks the Democratic party and has not one single word of condemnation of the Radical party. Yet when these "Independents" first strayed off from the Democratic party, they no doubt protested very vigorously that they were the Simon pure Democrats, opposed to rings and all such stuff as that.

Mr. Wood, the nominee of the Fifth District Independent Party, as it styles itself, has declined the nomination. Sensible man.

Gadsden correspondents of the Rome, Birmingham and Chattahoochee papers report a breeze or railroad excitement in Gadsden, but the Gadsden News of the 14th is silent on the subject. If our Gadsden friends get hold of a "good thing" we trust they won't "keep it," but tell it out and let us all enjoy it. We have an idea that the fate of both Gadsden and Jacksonville is united and that a future railroad project will determine the matter to the upbuilding of both.

A Gadsden dispatch to the Rome Bulletin says that Mr. Pat Tucker, of Attalla, is a candidate for Congress against Gen. Forney and that he has gone to Marshall county to meet Gen. Forney. Mr. Tucker, it appears is a Knight of Labor and will run as the candidate of that order. We do not know whether the organization has nominated him or not. It is likely that it has not, and that Mr. Tucker is running on his own hook, his own nominee, as it were.

The Senatorial Convention of Talladega and Clay counties, nominated Hon. Cecil Brown as the successor of Hon. F. W. Bowden in the Senate. The honor is well bestowed. Mr. Brown is one of the foremost of the bright and promising young men of the State and has before served Talladega acceptably in the Legislature. His competitors were men of high character and great popularity and this makes the honor of his nomination the greater.

The trade issue of the Talladega Mountain Home was a splendid paper, and reflected the highest credit upon Mr. Williams, the proprietor. It amply sets forth the claims of Talladega to public attention and will prove of great benefit to that pushing and growing town.

There is no end to the inconsistency of the "Independents." They kick and become "independent" because they object to nominations, but as soon as they grow strong enough to carry a county they resort to nominations to concentrate their strength, as is evidenced by their action in the Fifth District.

The State has lost another of its brilliant and promising young men by the death of Hon. N. J. Suttle. He died a few days ago at his home in Bibb county of yellow fever, said to be very fatal.

The papers are now calling the high protective Democrats Assistant Republicans.

ALABAMA NEWS ITEMS.

FROM ALL PARTS OF ALABAMA.

Hogs are dying in large numbers from cholera about Fort Payne.

The Coosa River News says: Gaylesville had a conflagration on Monday last. Mr. Marcus M. Russell's dwelling and everything in it being consumed by the fire.

Dr. Brown, of Tuscaloosa county, went over to Cross Plains for the purpose of locating. He spent the night with Mr. P. H. Brewster, in the neighborhood of a house and farm he had rented. During the night a thief entered his room and robbed him of his pocket-book containing $150 and a case of medicines and surgical instruments.

One Seamore, who was in jail here last spring on a charge from Tuscaloosa county, was again placed in jail here on Thursday morning, for decoying a young girl, sixteen years old, from her home in Tuscaloosa county, under pretence of marrying her. Seamore has a living wife in Tuscaloosa county. Our sheriff told us that he would take him to the coal mines next week.—Lamar Courier.

As a snake exterminator, a bruiser of the head of the serpent, Mr. Scott, of Dale county, has scarcely a living equal. The Ozark Star, without winking its eye or wagging its left ear, coolly informs us that Mr. Drew Scott, who lives a few miles north of Ozark, killed twenty-three rattlesnakes one day last week. It also informs us that "Little Bee" Whitman was bitten by a ground rattlesnake one day last week, and was quite sick for a day or two afterwards."

A LEADERLESS CREW.

It appears that Mr. P. A. Wood, recently nominated by the independents of the Fifth district for congress has or will decline. Sensible man. Mr. Wood had nothing in the world to gain by straying off from the democratic fold and it is fortunate for him that he yielded not to the temptations devised by a handful of sore-headed politicians and designing republicans. The declaration of Mr. Wood leaves that noble army without a leader in the present campaign. They may be independent of everything else, but they are not independent of a candidate to lead them into the wilderness. There is one hope yet left them—they still have a platform. There is no evidence so far that the platform has declined its adoption. Let the shattered hosts of this bereaved army mount this imposing structure, put it on wheels and roll it on to well just anywhere. If they decline this suggestion let them advertise for a leader. We suggest a style:

"WANTED."

Somebody to lead a forlorn hope. Must possess patience and courage to an alarming degree. Compensation to be paid in glory and reputation for having suffered martyrdom for a never dying principle.

One or the other of the modes suggested will in a measure extricate the Fifth district "independents" from the difficulties brought about by Mr. Wood's cruel declaration.—Montgomery Dispatch.

Lieut. George M. Stoney, who commanded the Alaska expedition and has completed an exploration from the Pacific to the Arctic ocean, is an Alabamian, having been appointed to the navy from Huntsville. He has greatly distinguished himself in the courage, intelligence and endurance he has displayed.—Birmingham Age.

Assembly 49 of the Knights of Labor of New York have doubtless by this time learned that they would better have kept their social equality at home when they came south. They may practice it in their own country, but they have no right to abuse the hospitality of southern people with so monstrous a nuisance.—Birmingham Age.

PERSONAL.

Mr. N. B. Feagin, formerly of Aniston, now of Birmingham, was in Jacksonville this week attending Chancery Court.

Col. John B. Peck and wife and Mr. Er Peck, their son, of Charleston, and Miss Maggie Lawshe, of Atlanta, were visiting friends here several days of this week, in their private car.

Ex-Gov. Parsons was in Jacksonville this week attending Chancery Court.

Hon. Jas. T. Greene, of Asheville, was in Jacksonville this week attending Chancery Court.

The following attorneys from towns of the county, other than Jacksonville, were here this week attending Chancery Court: J. J. Willett, Jas. H. Savage, E. H. Hanna, W. W. Whiteside.

Chancellor McSpadden held Chancery Court here this week. He goes from here to Edwardsville. Chancellor McSpadden received the compliment of election without opposition, and is deservedly popular throughout the Division. He is an able and pure man and will doubtless hold the office as long as he lives.

Mr. J. B. Martin, of Gadsden, was here attending Chancery Court this week.

The large steam saw mills of E. T. & J. R. Henderson a few miles west of Jacksonville were put down so quietly as to scarcely attract attention, yet the enterprise is a big one and designed to be of benefit to Jacksonville and this immediate section. The mill is directly on the E. & W. Railroad and has a capacity of twenty-five thousand feet a day. A railroad has been built from the mill into the timber one and a quarter miles long at a cost of nearly $2,000. The mill will employ thirty or more hands, adding something over one hundred population to this beat. The cottages for the mill hands forms quite a village.

Another large mill is situated a short distance beyond this one, and other parties are prospecting for a location of another mill still nearer Jacksonville. It is our purpose at an early day to visit these mills and write them up fully. Mr. Henderson, of the first mentioned enterprise, resides in Jacksonville and is sending several of his children to the State Normal school here. He is a very energetic and affable man and has won many friends here since he has moved among us.

The organization of the building association in Jacksonville and the erection of several new houses at a critical time in the history of the town was the best thing that ever happened for the town. It started a building boom, gave confidence to our people, and ever since the town has been steadily on a rise. The building of an elegant hotel here, such as is now projected, would help the town even more. We want railroad connections. We want people to come in here and put their money down for the development of the town. We can never hope for these things until we show a spirit of push and progress. Make the town large and railroads will seek a connection here. Show a spirit of enterprise and capital will be attracted here. Jacksonville has been doing well in this regard the past two or three years, but she could have done much more. Let us have the new hotel as a starter.

A Sure Cure for Hog Cholera.

Mr. Bob Murry, one of the most reliable planters of Calhoun county was in the city last Tuesday and told of a sure cure for hog cholera. Seven years ago Mr. Murry's hogs were dying in large numbers with cholera, and he checked the ravages by mixing with their food a moderate quantity of soda. A few days ago cholera again attacked his hogs and he lost twelve in one day. Heat once began giving soda, and has not had a hog to die since. While in Dawson Mr. Murry bought eight pounds of soda for his hogs. The remedy is simple and it would be well to try it. Dawson, Ga. Journal.

The Republican.

OCTOBER 23 1886.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE

FROM THE
Seventh Congressional District of Alabama,
in the Fifty-fifth Congress.
WILLIAM H. FORNEY, of Calhoun County.

The Birmingham Age says: "Let the Courier-Journal, the Selma Times, the Jacksonville Republican have their way, and every mine and iron manufactory in Alabama would be closed."

The Age further down in the article from which the above is extracted intimates that the Republican and other papers follow the "vulgar lead of the Courier-Journal in epithets directed against an honorable opponent"—the Age, presumably.

The Republican claims nothing in the way of originality, but it is no imitator we can say with perfect truth. No "me too" in our life, if you please. The Republican does not exchange with the Courier-Journal, does not quote from it and does not know what it is saying about the Age or the tariff except as it gathers it from other exchanges.

If the Republican is an imitator of the Courier-Journal in applying epithet to the Age, the Age is an imitator of the Radical papers of the North in applying the epithet of "free trader" to news papers which differ with it on the tariff.

The Selma Times, the Republican, and other State papers are in doubt ready to debate the tariff with the Age whenever it will so liberally undertake the work and drop the flippant charge of free trader against all who do not agree with it.

There are no free traders in Alabama, of consequence, owing to the necessities of the case. The Republican is free to admit that, if the conditions warranted the policy, it would be for free trade "all wool and a yard wide."

But the immense debt piled up by the war necessitates a tax and the pension swindle, which a false philanthropy and a dishonest political policy upholds, require a great deal of money and we know that this cannot be raised, under a free trade policy, and hence, and hence only, we are not for the policy of free trade.

We do not believe one single word of the bosh about "protective tariff" being for the benefit of American labor. If we did, we would feel more kindly toward it, for we sympathize with the working people and wish them well.

For the last twenty years we have heard this protection to American labor on the lips of bloated capitalists, but when we have looked at the condition of this labor we have seen it always in poverty while the employers of the labor were growing daily richer and richer through the bonus paid them by the toiling and hard-working people of the United States in the shape of a duty on the article they manufactured.

It is the policy of protection that has made the manufacturing North and East rich and impoverished the South, which is an agricultural country.

Now to the main point made by the Age. If the "Courier-Journal, the Selma Times and the Jacksonville Republican had their way," so far from every ore mine and iron manufactory in Alabama being closed, the State would prosper in these things as never before.

A reduction in the tariff on iron would make its manufacture unprofitable in the North, as in competition with foreign makers. They would have to come South, where coal, iron and lime stone recline side by side, to compete with the world. This would make Alabama one of the greatest iron States in the United States and the greatest iron-producing section of the same area in the world. The State would be dotted with iron furnaces and manufacturing enterprises of all kinds. Skilled labor would find employment its full time at remunerated wages. Farm lands would advance. Towns and cities would be built. Railroad building would be immensely stimulated.

But the iron makers already here prefer a monopoly of the business in the South, satisfied with the immense profits they make under the present tariff to any widely diffused prosperity. They are selfish. They want it all. They are grasping. They begrudge the country a general prosperity, if the means to that prosperity cuts down their profits any.

The Republican, speaking for itself, is not against a development of the industrial resources of the country. Its policy, if adopted, would stimulate the growth of Birmingham ten fold and put shekels in the pockets of the Age.

The Birmingham Age takes the correct view of the matter when it resists the further issuance of bonds as a basis of National Bank circulation. The Age properly thinks that the same object might be effected (expansion of the currency) by allowing the National banks to issue on deposits of gold and silver, or by the government issuing paper representative of the gold and silver bullion; or these ailing, by direct issuance of greenbacks, since both the proposed bonds and greenbacks are only a mortgage on the resources of the country. The various plans of the Age commend themselves, because they involve no tax of the people to secure interest.

It is the dream of the wealthy classes of to-day to fix a perpetual debt upon the people, drawing interest, which the toiling millions must pay. Since the proposed debt is based alone upon the faith and credit of the toiling millions it is just as well to make it, if it is to be made, by issuing greenbacks which draw no interest. To his extent the Age and the Republican (if the Age will permit) are Greenbackers.

That party who went to New York and left the impression that the Anniston & Northern Railroad controlled the old road bed and right of way between Jacksonville and Gadsden has probably realized by this time that it pays to remember the distinction between seem and be. In short that man will always gain more by being a gentleman of truth and honor in his dealings with other men. But some men act as though they believe that all the sagacity of the world is lodged in them, and that all other men are a lot of fools whom it is easy to run over without knowledge or resentment on their part.

As an evidence of the discriminating nature of our present tariff, the salt, used by the fishermen of the Eastern States is exempt from tax, but not so with the Western and Southern farmers who use this useful article. They have to pay a tariff tax. The present tariff was made mainly when the Southern States were unrepresented in the Federal Congress and hence this discrimination in favor of the East as against the South.

Messrs. E. T. Smyth, T. W. Ayers, J. M. Ledbetter, M. F. McCarty and J. J. McPherson, of Anniston, give notice, through the Watchman, that a bill will be introduced at the next session of the Legislature "for the purpose of prohibiting the sale, giving away or other disposition of spirituous, vinous or malt liquors or intoxicating drinks, bitters or beverages within Calhoun county, Alabama."

Mr. W. O. Butler has taken charge of the Anniston Watchman, having bought Mr. Smith out, and has made much improvement in that spiritedly democratic paper. We wish Bro. Butler the largest measure of success in all his undertakings. Mr. Smith was a genial, companionable and true man and we much regret to lose him from the press of the county.

The Anniston Watchman gives notice that a strong effort will be made to cast the vote of the working men of that town against Gen. Forney. Let the voters of the county turn out and vote for him.

The Calera correspondent of the Montgomery Advertiser, says: "Mr. J. D. Hardy, the Republican candidate for Congress, from this (7th) District, has been elected Master Workman of the lodge of Knights of Labor here (Calera)."

BIRMINGHAM.

The Alabama State Bank Changes Its Name and Increases Its Stock to $500,000.
Special to the Selma Times.
BIRMINGHAM, Oct. 19.—The stockholders of the Alabama State Bank to day ordered an increase from two hundred thousand to a half million dollars and changed the name to the Alabama National Bank. Nearly all the new stock is already spoken for the remainder will be reserved for citizens. Among out of town takers are President Norton, of the L. & N. road, Messrs. Josiah Morris, of Montgomery, M. A. Spurr, of Nashville, and several other bankers of reputation and influence. The bank will be the largest in the state.

The Weakness of the Flesh.

It is easier to forget a wrong than it is to remember a favor. "I can forgive him," said a man. "He did me a great wrong, but I forgive him."

"You have not been on good terms with Jackson," a friend replied. "Do you forgive him?" "No," after a moment's reflection, "I cannot be on good terms with him."

"Did he ever do you an injury?"

"Yes, the greatest of all injuries. He lured me money and I can't pay him. Let me tell you something. You have read of great leads of heroism, of wonderful sacrifice, of men made glorious by coming unfiled out of some great temptation, but the man who is unable to pay a debt of honor and who can still have a kindly feeling for his benefactor, is greater than heroes, purer of heart and soul than the man who has proved himself to be above temptation and who comes Bangs. I borrowed $100 of him some time ago."—Akansaw Traveler.

Mrs. Maxwell, wife of Rufus Maxwell, who lives about three miles west of Valley Head, committed suicide by cutting her throat with a razor, on Friday morning about 3 o'clock. She had been afflicted with attacks of melancholia occasionally, for two or three years, and during those attacks would wander off from her home. While the family was away from home on Friday she found a razor about the house and went out in the yard and cut her throat.

WEL IN A BALLOON.

Godard had taken with him, as his companion, a very wealthy gentleman, who was of the name of M. Godard. The weather had been more propitious than the balloon shot up rapidly to a considerable altitude. The effect does it produce on the mind of M. Godard of his companion, said the latter, laconically. "Compliments to you," replied M. Godard. "You are the only man I have ever seen at such an altitude without being some emotion." "You are on mounting," said the other, with supreme gravity. "Godard threw out some ball and the balloon ascended a few hundred feet higher." "Now," asked M. Godard, "your heart beat?" "My heart beat?" replied his companion in an air which approached the sublime. "I do not ask for pardon; on the contrary." "What is it you wish?" inquired the madman. "At this moment," continued the aeronaut hurriedly, "we are at a height of five thousand feet." "Stop," said the madman, "that will be charming to tumble down from such a height!" "It is too low," added M. Godard. "How so?" asked the madman. "Yes," said M. Godard, "my experience as an aeronaut has taught me that death is not certain from a fall from this elevation. Tumble for tumble, I much prefer to fall from such a height and to be killed outright, rather than to be only lamed; have the charity to precipitate me from a height of nine thousand feet." "Ah, that will do!" said the madman, whom the mention of a more horrible fall charmed amazingly. M. Godard followed heroically his purpose, and threw over an enormous quantity of ballast. The balloon made a powerful bound, and mounted five hundred feet in a few moments. Only—and while the madman surveyed this operation with a menacing air—the aeronaut conceived another plan. The quick eye of M. Godard had remarked that among the cords spared by the madman, figured the one leading to the valve. His plan is taken. He draws his cord, it opens the valve placed in the upper part of the balloon for the purpose of allowing any excess of the hydrogen gas to escape, and the result which he hopes for is not long in making itself apparent. Little by little the madman becomes asphyxiated by the vapors of the gas which surround him. The madman being sufficiently stupefied for his purpose, M. Godard allowed the balloon slowly to descend to the earth. The drama was finished. Arrived on terra firma M. Godard, bearing no hatred to the author of his perilous voyage, hastened to restore him to animation and had him conveyed, hands and feet bound, to the nearest police station.—Tid-Bits.

Gen. W. H. FORNEY.

This distinguished gentleman spent a few hours in Calera Sunday. Gen. Forney has been canvassing his district and the broad and liberal views of the vital question of the day, the progressive yet conservative ideas of governmental powers and duties that characterized his speeches conclusively show that he is the very man for Congress. His course in Congress has been marked by a watchful care for the rights and interest alike of the capitalist and laborer, the producer and manufacturer, which alone entitles him to a re-election. But independent of these reasons in the still greater one that the garnered wisdom of twelve years' experience makes his return to Congress by an overwhelming majority not only almost indispensable to his district, but great importance to the nation.—Shelby Sentinel.

AN APPALLING LOSS OF LIFE.

Families Swept Away and Leaving Nothing to Tell the Tale.

Telegraphic reports of the great storm on record from the Gulf coast of Texas give some terrible accounts of the destruction of life and property which it occasioned. It was heard of at the signal service office in Washington city as early as the 10th inst., and the offices along the Gulf coast were notified. We give sketches from the dispatches: GALVESTON, Oct. 14.—The town of Sabine, at the mouth of Sabine river, the dividing line between Louisiana and Texas, has been destroyed by a terrific storm that swept over that section on Tuesday and more than sixty people are known to have been drowned in the rush of waters that submerged the place. This number may be greatly augmented when more definite information is obtained. Telegraphic and all other communication has been cut off, but from the town of Beaumont, twenty eight miles distant have been learned meagre details of the appalling disaster. Two citizens of the stricken town left Sabine on a locomotive and reached Beaumont at a late hour last night. They were obliged to row a small boat across an expanse of tossing waters a distance of several miles from the town of Sabine to the railroad track. They say the waters began to invade Sabine Pass about 2 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon and rose with unprecedented rapidity. The citizens did not realize the eminent danger until it was too late to escape. When safety by flight was out of the question the people who were situated so they could do it betook themselves to the higher points, where they believed they were safe. The water kept rising and between 3 and 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon the smaller houses began to yield to the resistless force of the waves and not only moved them from their foundation but turned them over on their sides and tops. A little later the larger houses began to give away and death by drowning seemed to be in store for every person in the place. With the yielding of the smaller houses several persons who had remained in them were drowned. Their residences and business places began to crumble and the death list swelled to appalling proportions. BEAUMONT, TEXAS, Oct. 15.—The first reports of the great disaster at Sabine Pass were not in the least exaggerated; in fact, the death roll has now reached ninety souls swept into eternity by the surging waves. Thirty-five of the victims were white and fifty-five colored. Joseph Smith, a famous local character, known as "Alligator" Smith, was supposed to be among the lost, as people on the relief train saw him driving before a gale on Lake Sabine at the rate of twenty-five miles an hour. Great was the surprise therefore, when "Alligator" overhauled the steamer on its return, bringing with him in his small boat three persons whom he rescued in the swamps. Many other miraculous escapes are recorded. Ninety-one half clad, shivering, wretched victims were brought up on the Lamar, blankets and bedding were immediately procured for the comfort of the heartbroken sufferers every one of whom has some dear friend, relative among the dead. From accounts gathered language could not exaggerate the state of affairs at Sabine Pass. Out of more than 150 houses in the village less than six remain standing and they are ruined. Wives and children were swept away and drowned in the presence of their husbands and fathers, who were powerless to save them. The waves broke against the light-house in solid walls fifty feet high, tearing out windows at the very top. Corpses have been picked up at a distance of thirty miles from the scene of disaster. Damage at Sabine, including that to the government works, will aggregate nearly $500,000. HOUSTON, TEXAS, Oct. 16.—The Post's staff correspondent at Beaumont last night telegraphed some interesting details of the great deluge at Sabine Pass. He says that the places where the water was never over eight inches deep since the town was settled two years ago the flood was nine feet deep. The new house of Bralley Garnett was swept away with his family of five persons. After floating two and a half miles the house landed on a ridge back of the town all intact and nobody hurt. Mrs. John Stewart and daughter were separated at their home when the flood struck the town. The daughter seized a feather bed and the mother a window frame and thus supported themselves. After being out all night they landed at Aurora on the shore within a half mile of each other, each supposing the other had been lost. They traversed fifteen miles before they find them." No tongue can tell how the people have suffered during the past few days. In many cases the dead ones are considered the lucky ones. Late reports from Johnson's Bayou brings the terrible intelligence that eighty-five persons are known to be lost in that settlement, and it is greatly feared that the list will be swelled to a hundred or more, thus making the total number of victims by the hurricane fully 200. Reliable information from Johnson's Bayou arrives slowly, all roads being impassable and only two boats are running to that section. The destitution of the survivors are over 1,000 around Johnson's Bayou and Radford village, is described as something awful. They lost everything and are without food, drink and clothing. The population on last Tuesday morning numbered 1200 souls. To-day eighty-five of that number are counted with the dead and forty of their bodies have been consigned to their graves in the shell reef while the decomposing corpses of the remaining forty-five lies festering in the marshes. At 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon the storm descended upon the bayou. The rising wind swept through the lower stories of buildings, driving the frightened people into the attics and upon roofs. By 10 o'clock the first ridge, twelve feet above the sea level, was ten feet under water. House after house fell in or was swept away either burying the doomed in the debris or hurling them into the "issing waters." The cotton gin and stores next succumbed, and Radford and Johnson's bayou were destroyed as completely as if an invading army done the work. It was a night of terror described by the survivors as appalling. People could only cling to each other and pray for mercy and for the souls of those whose despairing shrieks rang in their ears. For twelve hours the storm raged over the devastated settlements, and then there came a lull. Hope revived as the waters receded and the storm passed, and the survivors gathered on the elevated points reviewing the scene of desolation around them. The houses that stood the action of the storm were completely gutted. There was no food nor drink, salt water having invaded everything. Then there began a search for the dead and those whose bodies lay pinned by the ruins of the houses were speedily recovered. From out of marshes corpses were taken and likewise buried.

A TIMELY RESCUE.

From a Most Fearful Death.

The Wilmington (Del.) Morning News, of Sept. 28th, 1836, gives the following history of a prominent business man's plucky fight and terrible experience with that much-dreaded and always-to-be-fetted disease, Cancer. Some years ago a barber accidentally cut my lower lip while shaving me. The pain was very slight and for sometime hardly gave it a passing thought. Finally it assumed the condition of a wart, which refused to heal entirely with all my efforts in that direction. I went to one of the leading physicians in Philadelphia who treated me three months for cancer, and sent me home cured as he said. But I was apprehensive. I was told by a prominent physician of Washington that I would surely die of cancer. About this time I heard of the wonderful cures effected by Swift's Specific, known as S. S. S. I was suffering with perfect nervous prostration. After I had given S. S. S. a fair trial this all disappeared, and I felt like myself again. I continued to take the Swift's Specific medicine regularly for several months, and before I could realize how it came about, I was a new man again. In fact I was cured—never felt better in my life and from that time up to the present I never felt the least evidence of a return of my old trouble. The cancer disappeared over a year ago, but I refrained from making the cure public before this, as I wished to be certain that I was cured. My condition is perfectly normal; I have none of those annoying symptoms which follow every other treatment used. I honestly believe that I have been cured of one of the worst afflictions that can be visited on the human family, and by the medicine known as S. S. S. I do not wish my name to appear in this connection, for business reasons only, but you are at liberty to give my name and address to any fellow-sufferer, or any one interested in the cause of humanity. THE COTTON HARVESTER.

Pronounced a Success by the Official Commissioners.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Oct. 21.—A committee appointed by the National Cotton Planters' Association, consisting of the State Commissioners of Agriculture of Georgia, and practical cotton planters from Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama, accompanied by Col. F. C. Morehead, president of the association, witnessed a trial of the cotton harvester at Sumter, S. C., yesterday, and made official report to-day. The committee say they witnessed the practical operation gathering seed cotton from plants in the open field, and that, while some little practicable improvements are needed, the committee were agreeably surprised and gratified to witness the operation of a machine approaching so closely to a perfect, successful cotton harvester, and feel that they can with confidence predict for the cotton planter a machine that will in the near future relieve him of the most distasteful part and expensive item of harvesting the cotton crop of the South. The commission say that the machine was easily handled and gathered at the rate of 240 pounds of cotton per hour from cotton plants that would not yield more than one-third of a bale of cotton to the acre, and are satisfied that with cotton yielding more to the acre the amount gathered would increase in proportion. The committee could discover no damage done in the operation of the machine to the plant in any way either to unopened bolls, leaves or stalks, and report that the machine distinguished between open cotton and the plant, gathering the one and leaving the other uninjured, which in the opinion of the committee has been the insurmountable difficulty. The committee say there was more cotton wasted on the ground than they thought allowable, but at the same time they are satisfied that much of such waste was caused by a slight defect in the mechanism for bagging the cotton had been opened since early in August, and after a long drought was unduly sensitive to the slightest touch. DYNAMITE BOMBS. And a Quantity of Other Anarchist Implements and Ammunition Found in Chicago. By United Press to Dispatch. New York, Oct. 21.—The Herald's Chicago special says: "The police yesterday found beneath the altar in the German Catholic church at Eighteenth and Rober streets, about 20 dynamite bombs, 18 muskets, some raw dynamite and a quantity of other anarchist implements and ammunition. Father Cellar, the pastor, was horror-stricken when convinced by the officers that the church had been put to such unholy use. The police had been informed by a Pole named Gustavo Wolf that the building was being used as a dwelling place at night by a band of anarchists. Wolf has made a statement revealing a plot to blow up a number of buildings, including the jail. Several arrests of anarchists were made last night on the strength of this confession, and more of the conspirators are being watched. Father Keller knew nothing of the affair and will not be arrested. MRS. CLEVELAND AND MISS DAVIS. Why the President's Wife Staid at Home. The following special in the New York Tribune is doubtless a slander on the good sense of the President and his wife. WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Southern people in Washington are in a state of mind because Mrs. Cleveland did not accompany the President to Richmond and attend the reception at Gov. Lee's, for which extensive preparations were made after the Governor had been advised that the President and Mrs. Cleveland would be present. The sudden and unexplained change of programme is attributed by Southern people here to the disinclination of the President and Mrs. Cleveland to meet socially and on a public occasion the daughter of Jefferson Davis, who is a guest of Gov. Lee and his wife, and they declared that this act is one of rudeness which the people of the South will neither forget nor forgive. It is thought the President and Mrs. Cleveland deemed it impolitic and inexpedient to be present at a public reception where they might be compelled to divide honors with the "Daughter of the Confederacy," as Miss Davis is affectionately called by Southern people. The salary of the mayor of New York is $10,000.

FROM ALL PARTS OF ALABAMA.

The steam gin and press of Mr. Samuel F. Price, a few miles from Hobby's bridge in Pike county, was burned the other day. Seven bales of cotton were burned and all the machinery destroyed. Loss $1,300; insurance $730. The Anniston Watahman says: Mr. W. H. Williams, a few weeks ago rented one of his buildings on brick row for three months and offered the gentleman to whom he rented twenty-five dollars cash to give up the house. This offer was made because another party was anxious to get the house at a higher rent. Mr. J. H. Jarrett, near Letohatchie, in Lowndes county, lost his gin house and four bales of cotton by fire October 18. The fire was first discovered in the lint room, and was supposed to have originated by a match being in the cotton. Mr. Jarrett is a hard-working, debt paying man, and this is indeed hard on him. There was no insurance. The Tuscaloosa Times says W. A. Campbell's store and contents at Shirley was burned, together with the postoffice fixtures and mail matter. Mr. Campbell's loss amounted to about $2,000, while that of Mr. T. C. Boxeman, who had an interest in the stock of goods is about $500. The Tuscaloosa School Board have purchased a $4,000 lot for the erection of a fine building for the public school. The Carrollton Alabamian says: Mr. Elijah Whatley, of Reform, is perhaps the oldest white man in Peabody county. If he lives till next April he will be 93 years of age. He is the hero of three wars—viz: 1812, the Seminole and Mexican. He is a pensioner of the war of 1812. The Opelika Times says: One of our citizens, who is an enthusiast on the "possum question," wants the legislature to pass a law protecting possums from the first of March to the first of November. He thinks the capture of one ought to be punished by paying a fine of $5 between the dates mentioned. The Gadsden Times says: As an illustration of the present cotton crop in this county, and we think it would approximate an average for the county. Mr. John Wilson, who, by the way, is one of our best Coosa river farmers, says he planted hoping surely to make thirty bales, and that the result is that he has now picked fourteen bales, and that he will probably get as much as one more bale and that it shall open. All our farmers say that their cotton is very nearly all open and out, and that the crop will be gathered the 15th of November. The Athens Courier says a large steam gin owned by Mr. Buck Baug, near Elton, was burned a few days ago, catching from the head of match which flew off as a man was lighting his pipe. Several bales of cotton also burned. The large steam gin owned by Neil S. Marks and operated by Baugh & Black, seven miles west of Athens, was burned a few days ago; also about forty bales of cotton and a large quantity of cotton seed. No insurance and it proves a total loss and falls heavily upon several of the small farmers who patronized it. The residence, household goods, including family supplies and a watch of Ed Jackson, near Pollard, was destroyed by fire on the 15th. The Blountsville News reports the following accidents: The boiler in Burgess' mill, situated three miles northwest of this place, burst last week. There was a lot of lumber burned next day, caused by a lumbering fire among the sawdust. The steam gin of Mrs. Trammell a widow lady, located between Hanby's Mill and Warrior, was burned on the night of the 15th inst., together with twelve bales of cotton. No insurance. A lot of sorghum syrup belonging to Fayette Copeland was accidentally burned one mile north of here. Excitement in Texas. Great excitement has been caused in the vicinity of Paris, Tex., by the remarkable recovery of Mr. J. E. Corley, who was so helpless he could not turn in bed, or raise his head; everybody said he was dying of Consumption. A trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery was sent him. Finding relief, he bought a large bottle and a box of Dr. King's New Life Pills; by the time he had taken two boxes of Pills and two bottles of the Discovery, he was well and had gained in flesh thirty-six pounds. Trial bottles of this Great Discovery for Consumption free at W. M. Nichols.

LETTER FROM UTAH.

Another Indian War Threatened—Colorow, an Old Ute Chief and His Fellowers Following in the Steps of Geronimo and His Band.

WHITE ROCKS, UTAH, Oct. 16.
ED. REPUBLICAN:—Work is progressing very satisfactorily at the military post recently established twelve miles south of us and christened Fort Duchesne. A good number of soldiers are temporarily camped just outside our back lot, sent here under command of Lieutenant Park to saw lumber on the Agency mill. Another camp is located at the foot of the mountains seven miles distant to procure stocks, while quite a number of men and teams are engaged in hauling them. It is estimated that at least 1,000,000 feet of lumber will be required to erect the contemplated buildings.

I had the pleasure several days since of meeting the commanding officer of the post, Col. Benteen.
He has acquired considerable reputation as an Indian fighter—was in the Modoc war with Gen. Custer at the time of the latter's death. Those who know say that he is spoiling for a fight even now, and present surroundings would indicate that ere long his desires in this direction will be gratified.

There is an old Chief belonging to the tribes on this reservation by the name of Colorow—extremely savage and warlike in disposition and withal sufficiently influential to command a considerable following. He is now and has been for two years past off the reservation over in Colorado with a band of Indians at his bidding. He came to the Agency in May last during the annuity payment, got his money, remained a few days with Sawawik, the head chief of the White Rivers and then returned to Colorado. While here he came into my office to procure some treatment for inflamed eyes, and I must confess his face and general appearance were not at all improving. He had a revolver buckled around him and a winchester hanging at his side and bore himself with the air of one familiar with the war-path. I gave him unusually respectful attention (the surroundings were different from what they now are) and congratulated myself on his departure.
Reports have been current from time to time that this old chief and his band have roamed over certain sections of Colorado at will, killing cattle that belonged to others, and even imperiling the lives of white people. More than once a conflict has been narrowly escaped between them and the cow boys and a fight is liable to be precipitated at any moment.

A letter was received at the Agency a few days ago from a Judge in Colorado in which it was stated that Colorow or some of his band had shot at a white man six times and that he had made a narrow escape—that the Indians were committing many depredations and that warrants had already been issued for the leaders. It concluded by saying that in case the Indians were not immediately made to vacate that territory the cow boys and white settlers would take the matter into their own hands. A man was at once sent to ask Colorow to return and in case he refuses, which I regard as an almost certain result, the agent will no doubt call out troops to bring him back. It is possible that in this matter the country will have a repetition of the Apache war in which Geronimo figured as the central figure for so long a time. The Apache warrior finds a striking counterpart in the old Ute disturber. The country of western Colorado affords just as fine resources and opportunities in the way of impenetrable mountain fastnesses, as does Arizona, and a war with Colorow and his blood-thirsty band would be less disastrous and expensive than that which has just ended in our sister territory. Col. Bentean, as before stated, is ready for the fray and the opinion prevails that the sooner Colorow and his band are made to understand their true relations to the white settlers and the Government the better it will be for them and everybody.
It is high time that the savagely inclined Redman should be taught a lesson in geography—even if it takes ball and powder to impress it upon his mind.

Privileges absolute and unlimited from the basis of all their ideas of justice and the sooner such sophistry is exploded the better for all concerned.

RAILROAD REGULATION.

Supreme Court Decision on Interstate Commerce.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The Supreme Court rendered its decision to-day in the case of the Wash-St. Louis & Pacific Railway Company, plaintiffs in error, against the people of the state of Illinois.
The specific allegation was that the railroad company charged Elder & McKinney fifteen cents per hundred pounds for transportation of goods from Peoria to New York City, and on the same day charged Isaac Bailey & F. O. Swanwick twenty-five cents per hundred pounds for the same class of goods from Gilman, Ill. to New York.
Gilman being eighty-six miles nearer than Peoria to New York.
The discrimination, it was alleged was in violation of the law of Illinois, which prohibits any charge for transportation of passengers or freight within the State of Illinois proportionally greater than would be charged for transportation of passengers or like classes of freight over a greater distance of the same road. The gist of the decision is contained in the conclusion as follows:

When it is attempted to apply to transportation through an entire series of States a principle of this kind, and each one of the States or half a dozen States shall attempt to establish its own rule of transportation and by its own method to prevent discrimination in rates, the deleterious influence upon the freedom of commerce among the States and upon transportation of goods through those States cannot be overestimated.
That this species of regulation is one which must be, if established at all, of a general and national character, and cannot be safely and wisely remitted to local rule and local regulations, we think clear from what has already been said, and if it be a regulation of commerce, as we think have demonstrated it is, and as the Ill. court concedes it to be, it must be of that national character, and regulation can only appropriately be by general rules and principle which demand that it should be done by the Congress of the United States under the commerce clause of the Constitution. The judgment of the Supreme Court of Illinois, which was adverse to the railroad, is reversed. The cause is remanded to that court for further proceedings in conformity with the above opinion.

Opinion by Justice Miller. Justice Bradley delivered an dissenting opinion, in which the Chief Justice and Justice Gray concurred.
In this opinion it is conceded that Congress might, if it saw fit, regulate the matter under consideration, but not having done so it is held that the State does not lose its power to regulate charges on its own railroad in its own territory simply because the goods or persons transported have been brought from or are destined to a point beyond the state borders.

TWO MEN KILLED.

Fatal Collision on the E. T. V. & G.
Railroad.

Yesterday morning about half past 8 o'clock a fearful accident occurred on the East Tennessee Virginia and Georgia railroad near Silver Creek station, on the Georgia division. Two men lost their lives, one has a broken ankle and several broken ribs, one had most of the flesh torn off his jaw and another badly bruised.

The way freight No. 23, which leaves East Rome at 6:40, was making for Brices station, where it expected to meet the up passenger due East Rome at 9:15. Just ahead of the freight a rock train pulled out from Silver Creek station. It got into a cut a short distance off, where the road curves and there was overtaken by the fast. A young man named Dobbs, about 24 years of age, from Dallas, and a man named Partridge, were on the rock car as flagmen.
Dobbs was instantly killed and Partridge died from his injuries in about fifteen minutes. A negro train hand got his ankle broken and several of his ribs broken.
Another negro, in jumping off the car struck his face against a rock and the flesh was torn off the jaw in a horrible manner. A third negro was badly bruised. The negro with the broken ankle was carried to Atlanta on the 9 o'clock train last night. Coroner H. C.
Harper went down with a jury and held an inquest over the bodies.—Rome Bulletin.

A rat was put into a box with a rattlesnake in Sacramento the other day. Instantly the snake struck it, and in a moment the rat turned over and died. It was then swallowed by the rattler. The next day another rat was put in the box. The snake made no movement towards it, but the rat at once attacked the snake, which, in defending itself struck its enemy several times. The bites had no apparent effect on the rat, which after a while, was released, and ran away, seemingly none the worse for its battle. This would seem to indicate that for a considerable time after expending its virus a rattlesnake is harmless.

PERSONS AND THINGS.

The theory of the inhabitation of the moon is plausibly argued in the affirmative by Dueberg of Berlin, who thinks that the further side may offer none of the obstacles to the condition of life peculiar to the face presented for the earth.

A citizen of Holyoke was drinking at a bar the other day with three companions, when his wife came in, joined the drinkers, and ordered drinks for all hands. It is said that no more effectual way of breaking up a drinking party was ever known in that section.

During the performance in the theatre Comique, Herlem, Friday night, Charles Johns, aged twenty-four years, of No. 25 Great Jones street, arose from his seat in the parquet and shouted "three cheers for Henry George." When he uttered attempted to eject him he tried to create a disturbance and was arrested. He was sent to the island for one month.

A junk dealer of Lewiston, Me., found a ball of shoe thread in an old boot. He used the thread for wrapping cord until it was nearly all gone, then found that it contained a wad of money, consisting of a half-penny, a gold dollar, a $1 resury note, a $1 Canadian bill, and a confederate $5 bill.

Young Mr. William Ogden, of Tolema, Mich., arose in his sleep the other night, and clad only in his shirt, went to the house of the young woman to whom he was engaged. Her father answered the ring at the bell, and seeing who it was and how he was clad, kicked him down the front steps. This awoke Mr. Ogden, who went home deeply mortified, having also taken a severe cold.

"No sir! he did not die of pneumonia; he died of bill brokers." He rejected an unwise improvement of a piece of real estate, made loans over himself with bonds and mortgages, and finally incurred a treat debt of $2,000, which rapidly inflated up to $8,000, and crushed the life out of him. He borrowed money on call, got paper discounted, and he worked, lived and died for the bill brokers. Yes, he died of a street debt, upon which he expended his strength very week, throwing it ahead from one day to seven.—Drygoods Chronicle.

General James W. Denver, who the democratic candidate for congress in an Ohio district of republican proclivities, represented California in Congress thirty years ago. While a bill to confirm certain land owners in San Francisco was pending he was offered a bribe of $40,000 to vote for the bill, or even to absent himself when the bill should be called up for final reading, but he denounced the scheme and secured its indefinite postponement.

Recently in Kern county, Cal., a man charged with murder was held by the superior court in $500 bail. A few days after a prisoner was before a justice charged with stealing a suit of clothes. He was held to answer, and when the question of bail came up the justice said, after figuring a while:
"The judge of the superior court releases a man who is charged with murder on $500 bail. I think after comparing the degrees of crime, I will give you a chromo and let you go."

A white whale was seen near Long Branch Saturday by about a dozen spectators. Three men were engaged in tarring the iron piles at the end of the pier, when the monster rose to the surface twenty feet away. The men immediately climbed up the rope cascading on which they were working, and none too soon to escape the capacious mouth of the whale for the last man had scarcely reached the deck of a tug when the whale snapped a t-e pier when that was dangling from a rope, and continued its course towards Ashbury Park. The whale was in sight for about fifteen minutes, during which time it spouted almost constantly. Pier Superintendent Taylor says the animal was between forty and fifty feet in length. Nothing has been seen of the tar bucket.

INVESTIGATING THE SHOCKS

At Charleston and Summerville...No Shocks Since Friday.

By United Press to Dispatch.

CHARLESTON, Oct. 24.—Mr. Earl Sloan, assistant geologist of the United States geological survey, investigated Friday's shocks with the following results:

"The afternoon shock was a compound disturbance with a motion at first from westward, interrupted in its second phase by a disturbance from a point west of north, its maximum intensity being at 2 o'clock, 43 minutes, 45 seconds p. m. The subsistence of this shock was unusually long, as shown by the oscillations of a delicately poised instrument, which continued until 4 p. m. Compared with the shock of August 21st, the intensity was in the ratio of 2 to 5.

Mr. Sloan also found that the Summerville shock preceded Charleston's disturbance by 15 seconds, and showed and intensity of 4 to 5 with August's quake.

No shock here since Friday night, except a very slight tremor at about 9 o'clock this morning.

GADSDEN.

A Widow Shot by a Drunken Rowdy Church Member.

Special to Advertiser.

GADSDEN, Oct. 25.—The blood of another one of Etowah's citizens is turned loose to flow by the hands of a young sixteen year old boy. On Saturday night Euclid Able, in company with a friend, John Henry, visited the widow Cannon's house, and when they arrived Mrs. Cannon informed Able, who was drinking, that if he could not come there sober he had better stay away, and he was put out of the house. He returned through the window, and while Mrs. Cannon was kindling a fire he pulled out his pistol and shot her in the back of the head and then turned upon her daughter, and told her if she did not hush he would shoot her. His friend caught the pistol, and Able made his escape. Mrs. Cannon died instantly. She lived about eight miles from town. Euclid is a son of Mr. Bill Able, one of the best and most highly respected citizens of Etowah.

The attendance at the Methodist and Presbyterian churches Sunday were very large. There was tor, Rev. C. R. Henderson. His condition is favorable and it is to be hoped that he will be out soon.

RELIEF!

FORTY YEARS A SUFFERER FROM CATARRH.

WONDERFUL TO RELATE.

"FOR FORTY YEARS I have been a victim to CATARRH—three months of the time a sufferer from EXHAUSTING PAINS. AT LAST MY CATARRH WAS CURED BY GUINN'S PIONEER BLOOD RENEWER. The discharges were so offensive that I was unable to mention it except for the good of my fellow sufferers. I have spent a fortune in seeking relief, but have found no relief. I have tried all the medical remedies ever used, but could learn of no other remedy. I have cured myself entirely—made me a new man, with no relief, and now weigh 175 lbs. I used thirteen bottles of the medicine, and the only regret I have is that I did not begin earlier. I have not had a return to my old condition, and I have no more to say about it."
